

Highlander Helping Hands

Remote learning has been hard on a lot of people, especially younger students who benefit from one on one learning. You have the opportunity to be a mentor, tutor, friend and hero to younger students from our feeder elementary and middle schools. We match students with similar interests for one-on-one Zoom or Google hangs, ideally once a week. Volunteer hours will be awarded and you and your buddy can determine the frequency and length of meetings based on your schedules. Some ideas include:

- Read to/with younger students or create a virtual “book club”
- Drop materials off in advance and create makey makeys, art projects, crafts or science projects virtually
- Offer homework assistance and tutoring
- Share the love of a sport, hobby or musical instrument and “practice” virtually
- Be a friend - let them know you care. You’ll be surprised by how you can impact a child’s life.

To participate, complete this registration form with your interests and availability. We hope to partner students together after the Thanksgiving break.
